Bold, Beefy Flavor

Center-Cut Top Sirloin

Center-cut top sirloin has strong visual appeal, deep flavor and an attractive price point. Its distinctive, lean texture invites creativity with marinades and cooking methods.

About Center-Cut Top Sirloin

This cut comes from the sirloin primal – specifically the top sirloin butt. It has less tough muscle than other steaks and a consistent mouthfeel. Its texture holds temperature well, which means it can be vacuum-sealed, cooked sous-vide and finished on the grill for a quick ticket time without much resting.

Attributes

- Juicy and beefy flavor
- Moderately tender
- Great when paired with marinades
- Cost-efficient cut

Marinate On It

Marinades with acidic elements, such as balsamic vinegar, verjus or citrus, enhance the tenderness of this cut and add layers of flavor. It is easily sliced into steaks and highly versatile. Flambé top sirloin tableside with cognac for fine dining, pan-sear it steakhouse-style with butter and herbs, or pair it with a South American chimichurri to serve as a whole steak or sliced on sliders.
